What We're Learning

News From the Nest

Happy New Year! It is hard to believe, that we are already at the halfway point of our school year! We hope everyone enjoyed a happy, healthy, and safe week off of school. Miss Macie and I couldn't wait to get back to all of our friends!

This week at school we began talking about the arctic. Throughout the month of January, we will be talking about what arctic weather is like, which animals like to live in cold/frosty temperatures, and what kinds of clothes we need to wear when we are out in this kind of weather.

Some of the stories we read this week included: The Biggest Snowball Fight Ever, Snowman Soup, Hide-and-Seek Hippo, and The Little Red Sled.

During our fine motor centers this week we made snowmen for our January bulletin board and a melted snowman. We also created houses out of our letter of the week, "H".

On Wednesday, Miss Ilia and Charlotte came to visit us and played in our two new arctic centers with this. She really loved playing with our arctic felt board and the "snow" (cotton ball filled) sensory table that had cups, spoons, and winter matching cards in it.

We always enjoy ending our week with Miss Carly. She brings such fun stories and great crafts that we can make together.

Next week we will continue our arctic unit by talking about what we wear in the wintry, cold weather. Our letter of the week will be "I". When it is your child's show & share day, please have them bring in something that begins with this letter.
